DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 8-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Emmerich.

Emmerich discloses a cutting insert (20), which can be mounted in a tool holder that can be rotated about its longitudinal axis with an essentially conical tip (22), a transition region and a foot (40) for connecting with a tool body (10), wherein the transition region has several spatial areas (24), which are distributed over its periphery and adjoin one another forming spatial and cutting edges; wherein the spatial areas are curved concavely; wherein the spatial areas are inclined so that they enclose an acute angle with the longitudinal axis ; and wherein the spatial areas are rounded as they change over into the foot (40).

Emmerich discloses all of the subject matter set forth in the claims except for an even number of spatial areas . It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use an even number of spatial areas, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St. Regis Paper Co. v. Bemis Co., 193 USPQ 8. It appears that there would be no new or unexpected result from such a modification of adding one more spatial area (24).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/22/07 have been fully considered but they are moot in view of the new ground of rejection.
